

PROGRESSIVE ORATORY IN WESTERLY

G. Warren Davis, of Norwich Presides, Introducing Herbert Knox Smith and Ernest Chadwick—Edwin F. Tuttle Heard Also—Getting Old Armory Ready For Trolley Station and Offices—Big Coal Pockets Near Avondale—Death of Morris Corran, 109.

The progressive spellbinders arrived in Westerly exactly as scheduled, reaching Dixon square just as the hands on the clock of the Washington Trust company pointed directly upwards. The speaking party came in the touring car bearing Connecticut registry plate 1885, owned by Ernest Walker Smith of Hartford, and contained besides the chauffeur Herbert Knox Smith of Hartford, former commissioner of corporations and candidate for the governorship of Connecticut; G. Warren Davis of Norwich, candidate for congress against Bryan F. Mahan of New London and William A. King of Willimantic to represent the Second district; Elmer Chadwick of Old Lyme, candidate for state senator against Elias Hinckley of Stonington, and Frederick A. Johnson of Montville. In a second automobile, Connecticut registry 8538, were Charles E. Wheeler, owner of the car; John S. Rathbun, Norton Wheeler and Roscoe Burrows of Mystic. Thomas W. Ryley joined the party later, coming hence by the Gorton and Stonington trolley road, of which he is superintendent.

The Wheeler automobile stopped in front of the Rhode Island pharmacy, while the Smith automobile took a position in front of the postoffice and served as the speakers' platform. The occupants alighted except Mr. Davis, who presided and made the opening speech. To attract attention he waved a red handkerchief, not a bandanna, and commenced talking in a loud tone. Within a few minutes nearly one hundred persons had assembled. Mr. Davis made a short speech endorsing the progressive cause and praising the traits of character and political stability of Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations under Roosevelt for six years and later under Taft but who resigned by reason of dissatisfaction with the Taft methods, whom he introduced as the next governor of Connecticut.

Mr. Smith, after words of praise for Roosevelt and denunciation of Taft, with a crack or two at Governor Baldwin and Nominee Studley, told of the many reforms he would carry through when he became governor, assuring his hearers that he was sure of election. Mr. Davis next introduced Ernest Chadwick of Old Lyme. He said that inasmuch as he was a pronounced opponent of the political scheming of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company there was quite a fight on for the state senatorship in the Connecticut Shoreline district. He said his republican opponent was Elias Hinckley of Stonington, one who attended the state convention of progressives, and because he could not get recognition to satisfy his ambition went back to the republicans and was given the nomination for state senator. His other opponent on the democratic side is Mr. Johnson of New London, whose democracy condemned him. Then Mr. Chadwick spoke words of praise for Candidate Smith and switched off in a boom for Mr. Davis for congress. He urged such of his hearers as were voters in Pawcatuck to vote for Mr. Davis for congress and to get into the band wagon before the tail end of the procession passed, as Mr. Davis would be surely elected, being one of the best known men in the congressional district. Mr. King, republican candidate, was out of the contest, he said, and the real fight was between Mr. Davis, who would serve the whole district, including Pawcatuck, while if Mr. Mahan was chosen he would concentrate all his efforts on his home town, and Pawcatuck would not know he was in congress except in name. Mahan would receive the votes of the leading republicans of New London party committeemen and probably that of United States Senator Brandegee and other republicans of prominence, but those outside of his own bailiwick would go to Mr. Davis. Mr. Chadwick in closing said that a party to succeed must have a principle; that the democratic party had none, and the republicans were so vacillating, that there was need for a real progressive party.

During the speaking Edwin F. Tuttle, chairman of the Rhode Island state central committee of the progressive party, appeared and disclosed his identity. He was introduced by Mr. Davis and spoke of the need of progressiveness in Rhode Island politics. He made a bitter attack upon the political methods of Rhode Island and indulged in personalities against General Wilson and Congressman Uter, who were subservient to machine rule, and claimed they were not entitled to the support of the people by reason of their emphasis on the methods of the Taft methods. Mr. Tuttle spoke at length and his attack upon Mr. Uter in his home town received no endorsing applause.

At the conclusion of the rally Messrs. Smith, Davis and Chadwick were entertained at the home of Dr. Edwin Whitford and the balance of the party dined at the Dixon house. At the conclusion of Mr. Smith's address he was introduced personally to many of those assembled, including several who were not affiliated with the bull moose movement, but who recognized the gentleman's marked ability. The party left Westerly in the early afternoon for Norwich, holding a rally en route at North Stonington. The party participated in the progressive demonstration in Norwich Monday evening, which several from Westerly attended.

AFTER LONG SUFFERING

These Two Women's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read Their Own Statements.

Cheneyville, La.—"Some time ago when in poor health, suffering from feminine ills, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I soon felt better and gained in strength and flesh. A gradual improvement continued as I took the Compound, and from 120 pounds I now weigh 155, and feel that my life has been prolonged."

"I deeply regret that I did not know of your medicine long before I did. Friends often speak of the wonderful change in my health, and I tell them that your medicine did it."—Mrs. J. W. STANLEY, Cheneyville, La.

Distressing Case of Mrs. M. Gary, Chicago, Ill.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and it has certainly made a new woman of me. After my first baby was born I was left a perfect wreck. I was weak I could hardly do my household duties and suffered with an awful backache. But since I have used your Compound the pains in my back have left me. I am strong again."

"My mother used it also through Change of Life and speaks very highly of it. You can use this letter any way you wish. I think it is only fair for one who has suffered as much as I, to let others know of your great remedy."—Mrs. M. Gary, 2968 N. Ridgeway Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The law requiring hunters to have license, and the fee of $15 from alien applicants, while the charge to citizens is $1, has been the cause of increased naturalization of residents of Westerly, according to the statement of an Italian who takes an active interest in local political work. He says that seven men who had qualifications to become naturalized voters several years ago have heretofore declined to take the final action, but the $15 license fee to hunt led them to relinquish citizenship. Referring to the several arrests recently made of Italians for hunting without license, it is not through ignorance of the law, he says, for every one of these illegal hunters know the facts, but seem willing to take a chance.

The game warden and his deputies are on duty hunting for the illegal hunters and are making every effort for a thorough enforcement of the same laws of the state.

Promoters claiming control of the output of seven independent coal mines in Pennsylvania have leased a portion of the Breen property near Avondale, with water frontage on the Pawcatuck river, where vessels drawing eight feet of water can reach and unload cargoes of coal under present conditions. It is planned to build a wharf and coal pockets, to dredge for deeper water to and at the wharf, and to establish a line of auto trucks for the general delivery of coal. The new concern will be known as the Watch Hill Coal company, Breen Brothers and Harvey & company proprietors, with Emilus B. Harvey as manager.

Local Laconics. Two more candidates were admitted by baptism into membership in the First Baptist church Sunday.

The county commissioners were in Pawcatuck Monday listening to the petitions of applications for liquor licenses. Judge Edward M. Burke and Herbert Knox Smith were classmates at Yale and clasped hands Monday for the first time in many years.

Plection, national and state, two weeks from today, and the liquor license question seems the most important to some people in Westerly.

Morris Corran, who came to Westerly from Russia 22 years ago and was in the coloring business here for eight years, died Sunday at his home in Dorchester, Mass., at the age of 102.
